

To be successful, you must face your problems and learn from them.